The Amulet of Kings
by Wenengrus Monhona

In the first years of the First Era, a powerful race of Elves called the Ayleids, or the Heartland High Elves, ruled central Tamriel with an iron hand. The high and haughty Ayleids relied on their patrons, the treacherous Daedra Lords, to provide armies of daedra and dead spirits; with these fearless magical armies, the Ayleids preyed without mercy upon the young races of men, slaughtering or enslaving them at their whim.

On behalf of the suffering human races, St. Alessia, the first in the line of Cyrodilids, sought the aid of Akatosh, the Dragon God of Time, and ruler of the noble Aedra. Akatosh, looking with pity upon the plight of men, drew precious blood from his own heart, and blessed St. Alessia with this blood of Dragons, and made a Covenant that so long as Alessia's generations were true to the dragon blood, Akatosh would endeavor to seal tight the Gates of Oblivion, and to deny the armies of daedra and undead to their enemies, the Daedra-loving Ayleids.

In token of this Covenant, Akatosh gave to Alessia and her descendants the Amulet of Kings and the Eternal Dragonfires of the Imperial City. Thus does Alessia become the first gem in the Cyrodilic Amulet of Kings. The gem is the Red Diamond in the middle of the Amulet. This is the Symbol of the Empire and later taken as the symbol of the Septim line. It is surrounded by eight other gems, one for each of the divines.

So long as the Empire shall maintain its worship of Akatosh and his kin, and so long as Alessia's heirs shall bear the Amulet of Kings, Akatosh and his divine kin maintain a strong barrier between Tamriel and Oblivion, so that mortal man need never again fear the devastating summoned hosts of the Daedra Lords.

But if the Empire should slacken in its dedication to the Nine Divines, or if the blood of Alessia's heirs should fail, then shall the barriers between Tamriel and the Daevidic realms fall, and Daedra-worshippers might summon lesser Daedra and undead spirits to trouble the races of men.

Trials of St. Alessia

Akatosh made a covenant with Alessia in those days so long ago. He gathered the tangled skeins of Oblivion, and knit them fast with the bloody sinews of his Heart, and gave them to Alessia, saying, 'This shall be my token to you, that so long as your blood and oath hold true, yet so shall my blood and oath be true to you. This token shall be the Amulet of Kings, and the Covenant shall be made between us, for I am the King of Spirits, and you are the Queen of Mortals. As you shall stand witness for all Mortal Flesh, so shall I stand witness for all Immortal Spirits.'

And Akatosh drew from his breast a burning handful of his Heart’s blood, and he gave it into Alessia’s hand, saying, ‘This shall also be a token to you of our joined blood and pledged faith. So long as you and your descendants shall wear the Amulet of Kings, then shall this dragonfire burn -- an eternal flame -- as a sign to all men and gods of our faithfulness. So long as the dragonfires shall burn, to you, and to all generations, I swear that my Heart’s blood shall hold fast the Gates of Oblivion.
Trials of St. Alessia 2

So long as the Blood of the Dragon runs strong in her rulers, the glory of the Empire shall extend in unbroken years. But should the dragonfires fail, and should no heir of our joined blood wear the Amulet of Kings.

then shall the Empire descend into darkness, and the Demon Lords of Misrule shall govern the land.’

Jauffre 1

I'm Brother Jauffre. What do you want?

Jauffre

Jauffre 2

I brought you the Amulet of Kings. The Emperor sent me to find you.

Jauffre
Emperor Uriel? Do you know something about his death?

I was there when he died. He gave me the Amulet of Kings.
You brought me the Amulet of Kings? This cannot be. Let me see it.

Jauffre

[Give Jauffre the Amulet]
By the Nine! This IS the Amulet of Kings!

Who are you? How did you get this? What do you know of the Emperor’s death?
Jauffre 9

As unlikely as your story sounds, I believe you. Only the strange destiny of Uriel Septim could have brought you to me carrying the Amulet of Kings.

Jauffre 10
Who is the Prince of Destruction?
"Close shut the jaws of Oblivion"...?

The Prince of Destruction he referred to is none other than Mehrunes Dagon, one of the lords of the demonic world of Oblivion.
The Emperor’s words—“Close shut the jaws of Oblivion”—certainly suggest that he perceived some threat from Oblivion.

But all the scholars agree that the mortal world is protected from the daedra of Oblivion by magical barriers.
How can Oblivion threaten us, then?

I'm not sure. Only the Emperors truly understand the meaning behind the rituals of coronation.
The Amulet of Kings is ancient. Saint Alessia herself received it from the gods. It is a holy relic of great power.

When an Emperor is crowned, he uses the Amulet to light the Dragenfires at the Temple of the One in the Imperial City.
With the Emperor dead and no new heir crowned, the Dragonfires in the Temple will be dark, for the first time in centuries.

Jauffre

It may be that the Dragonfires protected us from a threat that only the Emperor was aware of.

Jauffre
The Emperor asked me to find his son.

I am one of the few who know of his existence. Many years ago, I served as captain of Uriel’s bodyguards, the Blades.
One night Uriel called me in to his private chambers. A baby boy lay sleeping in a basket. Uriel told me to deliver him somewhere safe.

He never told me anything else about the baby, but I knew it was his son. From time to time he would ask about the child's progress.
Now, it seems that this illegitimate son is the heir to the Septim Throne. If he yet lives.

Jauffre

Where can I find Uriel's son?

Jauffre
His name is Martin. He serves Akatosh in the Chapel in the city of Kvatch, south of here.

You must go to Kvatch and find him at once. If the enemy is aware of his existence, as seems likely, he is in terrible danger.
And please, let me know if there's anything you need. My resources here are limited, but I will help in any way I can.

I heard about how you helped the guard drive the daedra back. Well done.

Brother Martin

Come with me. You're in danger. The Emperor told me to find you.

Brother Martin
Danger, you say? You came here to tell me this?

Brother Martin

Explain yourself or leave me alone. There are many others here who actually need your help.

Brother Martin
You're Martin, right? The priest?

Yes. I'm a priest. Do you need a priest? I don't think I'll be much help to you.
I'm having trouble understanding the gods right now.

Brother Martin

If all this is part of a divine plan, I'm not sure I want to have anything to do with it.

Brother Martin
There is a plan. We’re part of it.
Gods or not, we need your help.

Brother Martin

What plan? What are you talking about?
Brother Martin
I prayed to Akatosh all through that terrible night, but no help came. Only more daedra.

Brother Martin

What can you possibly know that would help me make sense of this?

Brother Martin
You are Uriel Septim's son.

Emperor Uriel Septim? You think the emperor is my father?
No, you must have the wrong man. I am a priest of Akatosh. My father was a farmer.

Brother Martin

The daedra came here for you. The Emperor knew you were in danger.

Brother Martin
An entire city destroyed to get at me? Why?

Brother Martin

... Because I'm the emperor's son?

Brother Martin
Why would I lie to you?

Brother Martin

I don't know. It's strange... I think you might actually be telling the truth.

Martín cannot stay here. We have driven them off, but they will be back once they learn of Martín’s survival. Which they will.

Jaufré

Priory attack 24

Where will Martín be safe?

Jaufré
Nowhere is truly safe against the power arrayed against us. But we must play for time, at least...

Cloud Ruler Temple, I think. The hidden fortress of the Blades, in the mountains near Bruma. A few men can hold it against an army.
Cloud Ruler Temple was built long ago, by the founders of the Blades, back in the days of Reman Cyrodiil.

It is high in the mountains near Bruma... our ancient fortress, sanctuary, refuge of last resort. Martin will be as safe there as anywhere.
The coronation of each new Emperor is sealed when he uses the Amulet of Kings to light the Dragonfires in the Temple of the One.
The Dragonfires of Akatosh remain lit until the death of the Emperor. His successor then lights them anew upon ascending to the throne.

Jauffre

With Emperor Uriel dead and no successor crowned, the Temple of the One will be dark for the first time in centuries.

Jauffre

It is a fairly common practice of these kinds of esoteric cults to put hidden messages within their sacred writings.

While the Dragonfires burned, the divine barriers kept the daedra from making more than fleeting visits to our world.

Martin
But the Dragonfires can only be relit by an heir of the Septim Blood, wielding the Amulet of Kings.

This was the essence of Mankar Camoran's plot. He was undone only by the merest... chance... but his complete victory remains perilously close.
We must recover the Amulet of Kings and relight the Dragonfires, before it is too late to stem Daedra's invasion.
I hope Maritte knows what he's doing with that evil book. I fear for what it could do to him if he's not careful.

In fact, daedric artifacts are known to be formed from the essence of a Daedric Lord, from whence they derive their great power.

Believe me, it was no picnic. But thanks to our friend here, I now know we can close these hell-gates. We can defend Bruma!
Good work. Captain Burd and his guardsmen should be able to handle any additional attacks, at least for now.

But the Bruma Guard cannot defend the city indefinitely. The daedra of Oblivion are innumerable; the guardsmen of Bruma are not.
We need to gather what allies we can before Bruma is hopelessly besieged.

If the Mythic Dawn manages to open a great gate here, the city will need a stronger garrison for there to be any hope of defending it.

Martin made some progress on the Mysterium Narces while you were gone. You should speak to him about it.

I've figured out another item needed for the ritual to open the portal to Camoran's Paradise.
The second item is the counterpart to the first: the blood of a Divine. This was a terrible puzzle to me.

Martin

Unlike the Daedra Lords, the gods have no artifacts, and do not physically manifest themselves in our world.

Martin
How then to obtain the blood of a god? But Jauffre solved it. The blood of Tiber Septim himself, who became one of the Divines.

Martin

This is a secret remembered only by the Blades, passed down from one Grandmaster to the next. Jauffre should tell it to you himself.

Martin
So, Martin wants you to recover the Armor of Tiber Septim? I wish there was another way.

The Armor is in the Shrine of Tiber Septim, in the catacombs beneath the ruins of Sancre Tor. A holy place, once.
But Sanere Tor became evil long ago. No one has returned from the Shrine of Tiber Septim for many lifetimes.

What evil lurks in Sanere Tor?
I do not know. The catacombs of Sancre Tor were sealed by the first Grandmaster of the Blades.

The four mightiest Blades of Tiber Septim’s day, Alain, Valdemar, Rielus, and Casnar, went to Sancre Tor and never returned.

The Blades are as touchy as priests about relics of Tiber Septim, it seems!
While you were gone, I’ve made some progress in deciphering the Mysterium Xarxes ritual. The third item we need is a Great Welkynd Stone.
You may have run across lesser Welkynd Stones; they are fairly common in Ayleid ruins. But a Great Welkynd Stone will not be easy to come by.

They have been plundered one by one over the years, due to their great value to mages and occultists.
There is only one place that is rumored to still contain one: the ruins of the Ayleid city of Miscarand.

A place where many have perished seeking its Great Stone. But nothing else will do, so you must succeed where all others have failed.
Tell me about Miscarcand.

Welkynd stones contain the concentrated power of Mundus; their counterparts are sigil stones, which are used to hold open Oblivion Gates.

but we have no choice. The only way to recover the Amulet of Kings is to allow the Mythic Dawn to proceed with their plan to attack Druma.

At least you'll be safe here.
No, I'll lead the defense of Bruma myself. If I am to be Emperor, it's time I started acting like one.

Martin Septim

It's too risky. I'll lead the battle.

Martin Septim
Remember when we first met in Kvatch? I told you that I didn’t want any part of the gods’ plan.

I still don’t know if there is a divine plan, but I’ve come to realize that it doesn’t matter.
What matters is that we act. That we do what's right, when confronted with evil.

Martin Septim

That's what you did at Kvatch. It wasn't the gods that saved us. It was you.

Martin Septim
Were you acting for the gods? I don't know. But now it's my turn to act.

We must allow the Mythic Dawn to proceed with their plan to open three lesser gates outside Bruma.
According to the plans you captured from those spies, they need the three lower gates open before they can open a Great Gate.

The Great Gate will allow them to bring out the siege machine to blast the walls of Bruma, just like at Koatric.
But it's our only hope to get the Great Seal Stone we need to complete the ritual. You'll have to act swiftly when the Great Gates open.

Kill Mankar Camoran, and you will unmake his Paradise.

Martin Septim
Ritualen 8

Shall I open the portal to Paradise? Are you ready?

Martin Septim

Ritualen 9

Yes, open the portal to Paradise.
I'm not ready yet.

Martin Septim
Farewell, my friend. Our fate is in your hands. Bring back the Amulet of Kings.

Brace yourself.

I have arrived in Camoran's Paradise. The portal closed behind me. I must find Mankar Camoran, kill him and recover the Amulet of Kings.

So, the cat’s paw of the Septima arrives at Loch.

Ritualen 17

You didn’t think you could take me unaware, here of all places in the paradise that I created?
Ritualen 18

Look now upon my paradise, Qajar Alata, in the old tongue. A vision of the past... and the future.

Ritualen 19

So you found your way to Qajar Alata at last. Don't we have enough troubles here, without you adding to them?

Ascended Immortal
Leave us alone. Your quarrel is with Mankar Camoran, not us poor fools.

Galar Alone

Ritualen 21
Gaiar Alata is the Master's name for this place. We usually just call it Paradise.

This is the Savage Garden. At the top of that mountain lies the Terrace of Dawn, which leads up to Mankar Camoran's palace... Carac Agaialor.
Beneath the mountain lies the Forbidden Grotto, the only way out of the Savage Garden.

Everyone here died in the Master's service. As the Master promised, we are now immortal, like the daedra.

Ritualen 27

But our life here is a nightmare. The creatures of the Garden torment us endlessly. When they kill us, we are soon reborn and the cycle begins again.
No one has yet found a way to leave the Garden, except those few given the Bands of the Chosen and allowed to enter the Forbidden Grotto.

Ascii: Ascended Immortal

Only those wearing the Bands of the Chosen may enter the Forbidden Grotto, but they never return, so we don’t know what fate awaits them.

Ritualen 35

Behold the Savage Garden, where my disciples are tempered for a higher destiny, to rule over Tamriel Reborn.
If you are truly the hero of destiny, as I hope,
the Garden will not hold you for long.

Lift your eyes to Garad Agmadar, my seat at the pinnacle of Paradise. I shall await you there.
You did not expect to see me again, did you? You have no grasp of the power that my father has at his command.

You think you can stop us? Soon Mebhunco Pagon will walk upon Hamriel for the first time since the Mythic Age, and our victory will be complete.
Ritualen 42

Come, my father is waiting to welcome you to Carac Aghalor.

Ruma Camoran

Ritualen 43

So here you are at last. The lackey of the Septim pretender. You still think you have a chance, don't you?

Raven Camoran
We knew you would find your way here eventually, but it is of no consequence.

You should not keep my father waiting any longer. He expected you hours ago. Come, you came here to see him, did you not?
I have waited a long time for you, Champion of Old Tamriel.

You are the last gasp of a dying age. You breathe the stale air of false hope.
How little you understand! You cannot stop Lord Dagon.

The walls between our worlds are crumbling. The Mythic Dawn grows nearer with every rift in the firmament.
Soon, very soon, the lines now blurred will be erased. Tamriel and Oblivion rejoined! The Mythic Age reborn!

Lord Dagon shall walk Tamriel again. The world shall be remade. The new age shall rise from the ashes of the old.
My vision shall be realized. Weakness will be purged from the world, and mortal and immortal alike purified in the refiner's fire.

The long duel with the Septims is over, and I have the mastery.
The Emperor is dead. The Amulet of Kings is mine.

And the last defender of the last ragged Septim stands before me, in the heart of my power.
Ritualen 58

Let us see who at last has proved the stronger!

Martin Septim

You did it. You defeated him. Then you have it... you have the Amulet of Minga?
Here. The Amulet belongs to you.

Belongs to me? The Amulet of Ningir?
So you and Sunfroe have said, if it is true, if the Emperor really was my father, then I should be able to wear it.

Martin Septim

Only those of the Septim blood can wear the Amulet of Kings.

Quest updated: Paradise

You see, you are Uriel’s son.

Martin Septim
You see, you are Uriel's son.

I didn't really need the Amulet to tell me that. I've known it was true since you first told me back in Kvatch.
But it is one thing to talk of becoming Emperor, and quite another to actually be the Emperor.

You are the Emperor.
Slutet 17

Not yet. Until we light the Dragonfires, the gates are open, and Gehnroes Dagon’s invasion continues.

Slutet 18

While you were gone, I sent a messenger to Chancellor Drato. He waits for us in the Imperial City.
Why meet Dento?

Chancellor Pento is the head of the Elder Council. The Council rules in the Emperor's absence.
I don't expect any objections from the Elder Council, but we should defer to their authority.

Martin Septim

Let's go to the Imperial City at once, before the enemy can recover from Mankar Camoran's death.

Martin Septim
Welcome to the Imperial Palace.

Light the Dragonfires

We have arrived in the Elder Council Chamber. I must formally present Martin’s claim to Chancellor Ocalo, the head of the Elder Council.

I have been expecting you. The full Council has already considered the matter of Martin's claim to the Imperial Throne in detail.

High Chancellor Orito

Martin Septim, on behalf of the Elder Council, I accept your claim to the Imperial Throne. We should arrange the coronation ceremony as soon as...
Chancellor Ocelot! Chancellor Ocelot! The city is under attack! Oblivion Gates have opened, and daedra are inside the walls! The guard is overwhelmed!
Courage, soldier. We have an Emperor again.

Your Highness, what are your orders? Shall the Guard fall back to the Palace?
No, if we let ourselves get besieged in the Palace we're doomed. We must get to the Temple of the One immediately.

As you command, sir. Guards! Form up and protect the Emperor! To the Temple of the One!

Mehrunes Dagon is here! The barriers between Oblivion and Tamriel have been destroyed! Our only hope now is to somehow defeat Mehrunes Dagon and cast him back into Oblivion. Perhaps Martin will know what to do.

We're too late... Mehrunes Dagon is here!

Martin Septim

Lighting the Dragonfires will no longer save us... the barriers that protected us from Oblivion are gone...

Martin Septim
Can we cast him back into Oblivion?

I don't see how... mortal weapons may hurt him, but now that he is physically here in Tamriel, they have no power to actually destroy him.
What about the Amulet of Kings?

Wait. Yes. The Amulet was given to mortals by Akatosh... It contains his divine power...
But how to use this power against Dagon? The Amulet was not intended as a weapon...

...I have an idea. One last hope. I must reach the Dragonfires in the Temple of the One.

Martin Septim
But you said it was no use...

You'll just have to trust me. I now know what I was born to do. But I'll need your help. I have to get past Mehrunes Dagon, somehow.

But now I must go. The Dragon waits.

Martin Septim
What happened? Where's Martin? I must congratulate him! Mehrunes Dagon is defeated! Cast back into Oblivion! We've won!

High Chancellor Ocato
Martin is gone.

What do you mean, gone?
We saw the Temple dome explode, the avatar of Akatosh appear... that was Martin?

High Chancellor Ocato

Yes. He shattered the Amulet...

High Chancellor Ocato
The joined blood of kings and gods. The Amulet of Kings. The divine power of Akatosh.

High Chancellor Ocato

...and Martin's blood, too...

High Chancellor Ocato
Then Martin is gone...

But the gates are sealed.
Yes, sealed forever. Mehrunes Dagon and his ilk can never threaten Tamriel again.

High Chancellor Ocato

Martin is dead. But he died an emperor, and a hero to rival Tiber Septim.

High Chancellor Ocato
What about the Empire?

This victory is not without cost. We've lost Martin Septim. What an emperor he might have made.
His sacrifice was necessary, but it leaves the Empire without an emperor.

High Chancellor Ocato

I don’t know what happens now. There are troubled times ahead for the Empire.

High Chancellor Ocato
But now is not the time to worry about the future. Let's just give thanks that we're alive.

High Chancellor Ocato

The dragon will stand forever as a memorial to what you and Martin did for all of Tamriel.
Slutet 85

I can’t believe it’s over... that giant demon... the Dragon... what happened? Have we won?
